BURGLAR GETS $1000 LOOT

S. A. HOME BACK DOWN IS RIFLED BY LODGE OF GEMS, BONDS

N. H. Edgar's Residence Is Entered In Night By Daring Robber

Jewelry, Liberty bonds, War Savings stamps and currency totaling approximately $1100 were secured by a lone burglar early this morning in a raid on the N. H. Edgar home, 421 Orange avenue. Mrs. Edgar awoke in time to see the man, who was rifling a dresser drawer in her room, but before she could arouse her husband the burglar took flight, escaping from the house by a side door.

A one-carat diamond ring in a platinum setting was the most valuable article taken, this being appraised at $600. Three $100 bonds of the third Liberty loan issue and two $50 bonds, one of the first issue and one of the third were also secured. A $50 book of War Savings stamps was also included in the loot, together with $52 in cash and a wedding ring. Several articles of clothing also were taken. A pair of diamond earrings was overlooked by the thief.

Entrance to the house was gained through a window leading into the breakfast room at the rear of the residence. From there the burglar evidently made his way to the front of the house, beginning his search for valuables in a room occupied by Edgar's parents who are visiting here from Detroit. It was in this room that the bonds, War Savings stamps and $40 of the currency was secured.

Searches Every Room
From there the thief evidently worked back toward the rear of the house where Mr. and Mrs. Edgar were sleeping. Investigation proved that every room in the house had been searched for loot and the thief was evidently frightened away just as he was completing his work.

Mrs. Edgar told City Marshal Jernigan she had evidently become aroused at a slight noise made by the burglar. As she raised up in bed she distinctly saw the outline of a man's form by the light streaming in from a rear window. She turned to rouse her husband and the thief then silently glided from the room. Mrs. Edgar did not hear him leave and was not aware he had left until the lights were turned on.

A report of the burglary was made to City Marshal Jernigan at once and he visited the scene. Because of insufficient light it was not possible to make a complete investigation at that time, and the residence was visited again this morning, but no clue could be found. Several articles with which the man's hand had come in contact were turned over to Charles Holbrook, deputy sheriff, in an effort to secure some trace of the burglar through the fingerprint department.

Other Loot
Other articles taken included an Elks pin set with a diamond, a vest and pair of trousers belonging to N. H. Edgar's father, C. H. Edgar, a sack coat belonging to N. H. Edgar, and a velvet handbag containing $12, the property of Mrs. N. H. Edgar.

Mrs. Edgar today said that members of the household retired at about 11 o'clock last night and that it was about 1 o'clock when she was aroused. Local police are inclined to believe the job was done by a circus follower. Mrs. Edgar attributes the fact that some member of the household was not aroused sooner to all having been sleeping soundly as the result of an all-day automobile ride, having traveled by machine from the Imperial Valley yesterday.

The bonds and War Savings stamps were brought from the East by Mr. Edgar's father to relieve him of the necessity of carrying a large amount of cash.

N. H. Edgar is local agent for the Oakland automobile.

Grants Solons More Time for Arguing Others Into Compromise

PARIS, Mar. 11.—"We have a right to say to President Wilson that in his Hitchcock letter he is mistaken about France," Andre Tardieu declared in a letter to the press, published today. Tardieu denies Wilson's charge that France is militaristic.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—Ratification of the Peace Treaty all depends on the vote of one or two senators, leaders in the effort to arrange a compromise on Article 10 declared this afternoon.

They asked Senator Lodge to give them a little more time to argue certain Senators into line for the compromise and Lodge agreed not to call up the treaty at all today.

He took this step in spite of the fact that he announced some time ago he would keep the pact before the senate without interruption until it was disposed of.

Return to the senate of Watson of Virginia, who has been absent, helped to give impetus to the work of the compromisers.

Leaders expected to get down to "brass tacks" on the reservation to Article 10 today. When the Lodge reservation to this article, or some substitute for it, has been incorporated in the resolution of ratification the way will have been cleared for the vote.

Decision was to be reached today on whether the compromise reservation on Article 10, worked out by Senators Simmons and Watson, would be offered in the senate this afternoon or abandoned.

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 11.—Prevalent reports that the trials here of fourteen alleged I. W. W.'s on charges of criminal syndicalism, would be interrupted by sympathizers who would attempt to rescue them from jail, led to placing of armed guards in Superior Judge Willis' courtroom, where the trial of Nathan Seelik started today. The morning session was consumed in selecting a jury.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Mar. 11.—Mayor Thomas Lanthier landed at March field a few minutes before noon today after completing his trip from Camp Lewis, Washington, started last Friday morning. Engine trouble and a leaking radiator made it necessary for the flier to make the trip from San Francisco to Riverside in short laps.

SAN DIEGO, Mar. 11.—Two flight balloons from the Naval Air station at North Island will be towed to San Pedro Monday by destroyers for use in battle practice with the Pacific Fleet. The balloons will be inflated here and towed through the air.

They will be turned over to the battleships New Mexico and Idaho and used at sea for spotting ships during target practice. After about one week the balloons will be brought back to San Diego.

WORLD TRADE GAIN SEEN IN RADIO BILL

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 11.—Passage of the Poindexter resolution by the senate whereby the navy would be instructed to make its radio facilities available for commercial and press messages was hailed by exporters and importers here today as a great stride towards development of international trade.

G. H. Carter, general manager of W. R. Grace and Co. said it would be a decided advantage to his concern if navy wireless were available. "The congestion of cable now holds up messages often from one to two weeks," he said. "When the reply is received the business is gone."

"It appears the government is backing up its foreign trade policy," said Henry G. Hurst of the New York Overseas Co., "and is giving importers and exporters an opportunity to expand their foreign business."

In navy radio circles it was learned that even though Japan has but one receiving and transmitting station, use of the naval radio would help communications. One official said Marconi equipment is incapable of working at good speed with the Honolulu relay point. It was pointed out that since Marconi was allowed to resume operations, no messages have been accepted for Japan.

In explanation of this, an official of the Marconi company declared the Japanese have refused to receive American messages, but have continued to send to the United States. Communication with Honolulu would be greatly facilitated by the Poindexter resolution, it is believed, because the navy has two stations there as well as three on this coast.

The three here are at South San Francisco, Mare Island and San Diego.

PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 11.—The Poindexter resolution, if finally adopted by congress, would not affect coast business with the exception of that at San Francisco, in the belief of Charles A. Edwards, manager of the A. C. Anderson Co., exporters and importers.

"Due to the fact that there are no naval radio stations here," he said today, "we probably could not get messages to the naval stations."

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—Many deft touches, revealing the instinctive capacity of the Slavic race for feeling the glamour and mystery of life, are expected to be contained in a forthcoming book by Vera Fokine, known to theatergoers everywhere as with-out a peer among graceful and delightful dancers.

The book, by this greatest of world's ballerinas, is now engaging all of her spare time. When it is completed and translated into English it will bear the title, "Childhood and Beauty."

That Mme. Fokine will speak with authority goes without saying, for she has a little boy of her own.

In her book she will deal with the psychological and spiritual aspects of her subject and then will outline a series of exercises which any mother may teach her young child for the purpose of developing freedom, grace and poise.

PINCHOT GETS NEW POST.
HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 11.—Gifted Pinchot, former chief forester of the United States, today was minister of forestry of this state, following his appointment to succeed Robert S. Conklin, resigned.

EL TORO, Mar. 11.—Scores of men and boys on horseback and afoot are today searching the foothills and canyons east of El Toro for traces of Carl Conway, aged 14, son of Geo. Conway, section foreman of the Santa Fe.

The last seen of the boy was last night about dark at a ranch house six or seven miles east of here. It is feared that the boy is lying somewhere with a broken leg. His bones are brittle, and he has suffered several fractures.

There is a possibility that the boy has planned a departure from home, but that possibility is so doubtful that the search for him is being made on the theory that he lies some where dead or injured.

Yesterday afternoon the boy left home with his 32-caliber rifle. He said that he was going into the foothills to see if he could kill a coyote. Between 2 and 3 o'clock he passed the forest ranger's station here, and he had his rifle and a plentiful supply of cartridges with him.

Last night just about dark he appeared at a ranch camp on Super-wassum's lease at a point between the Trabuco and Oso canyons, at a point known as one of the Pro-towns. This place is six or seven miles from here. The boy

BABE SAVED BY MOTHER IN CRASH

Five Fullerton Folk Hurt as Autos Collide In Los Angeles

Holding her 18-months-old baby tightly to her breast, Mrs. Rachel Shippman of Fullerton in Los Angeles today saved the child's life as an automobile in which they were riding crashed into another at the corner of Main street and Slauson avenue.

Five persons were injured in the crash, which occurred at 8 o'clock this morning. All five were passengers in a machine driven by R. E. Shippman of Fullerton.

The machine with which the Shippman car collided was driven by William Stice. Neither driver was injured.

The passengers in the Shippman automobile were pinned under the wreckage. By-standers who rushed up to render assistance found Mrs. Shippman with her baby firmly clasped in her arms. Had the mother not protected the baby, it is considered certain it would have been killed. As it was, it sustained only slight bruises. Mrs. Shippman was bruised but will recover.

Freda Shippman, 3 years old, sustained slight lacerations. Albert Lintz, 78, sustained a slight concussion of the brain and other injuries. He was the most seriously injured. His wife, Mrs. Minnie Lintz, 67, was hurt about the shoulders.

MAN HURT IN S. A. CRASH

W. E. Brown of 826 East Sixth street, received a painful gash over the eye, the automobile he was driving was considerably damaged, and the frame of a Stoddard-Dayton truck being driven by C. Y. Martin, father of Glenn Martin, airplane manufacturer, was broken in a collision early this morning at the corner of East Fifth and Minter streets, Santa Ana.

"The two machines, Martin's from the north, Brown's from the east, approached the intersection at the same time, and apparently each thought the other would slow down. When Martin saw that Brown had speeded up to pass first, Martin attempted to stop but it was too late and his truck crashed into the side of the Ford car. The impact broke the glass of the Ford's windshield, a piece of which inflicted a gash just over Brown's eye. His car was also bruised. Martin escaped unhurt.

HOUSEWIVES PROTEST GARBAGE CAN THEFTS

AGED 'JOAN OF ARC' TO BE WELCOMED BY BAY CITY LABOR MEN

OAKLAND, Cal., Mar. 11.—Labor leaders of the bay cities were to welcome Mother Jones, organized labor's aged "Joan of Arc," on her arrival here today from Los Angeles. She is coming here to speak throughout the bay region in connection with the shipyard strike.

V. C. Doaslaugh, secretary of the Alameda Contra Costa County Metal Trades Council, will head the labor delegation that will greet the picturesque figure. Mother Jones, more than eighty years old, is known throughout the United States as the friend of the worker.

"She'll stay in the bay district until the last victory of the present shipyard strike is won," declared Doaslaugh.

"During the period she is here she will deliver addresses morning, noon and night."

SOLDIER AID PLANS GIVEN SET-BACK BY SECRETARY HOUSTON

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—Enactment of any of the soldier aid proposals by congress would threaten serious consequences to the financial welfare of the nation, secretary of the treasury Houston today told the house ways and means committee.

"In what ever way you approach these proposals, they are certain to increase the burdens of every man, woman and child in the United States," Houston said.

Millionaire Charges San Diego Man With Criminal Libel

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Mar. 11.—J. P. McDonough, former publisher of the "Liberal Advocate," a weekly newspaper here, was to be arraigned here this afternoon on a charge of criminal libel, brought by John D. Spreckels, multi-millionaire.

A pamphlet McDonough wrote, attacking alleged conditions in Tia Juana and Mexicali, forms the basis of the charge. McDonough has been at liberty on a bond of $1,000.

McDonough's arrest grows out of a bitter fight here between two factions, one seeking to close the Mexican border and the other to keep it open. Spreckels took exception particularly to one paragraph in McDonough's pamphlet, which in part follows:

"John D. Spreckels, owner of the race track ground, wants none but foreigners to work for him. Jim Coffroth, Spreckels' partner, brought all his gang with him. Baron Loug, associate of Spreckels, on one hand, and of 'Booze' Byers (owner of the Owl saloon at Mexicali) on the other, wants none but people from the north to work for him. This gambling gang has brought no appreciable benefit."

"I don't believe in conditions as they now exist below the border," McDonough is quoted as saying.

GIRL MENTIONED IN VAN CAMP DIVORCE SUES FOR $50,000

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 11.—Adding a new sensation to the domestic tangles involving Frank Van Camp, millionaire canned goods manufacturer, Miss Ruth Cruzen, Van Camp's stenographer, today was the plaintiff in a $50,000 damage action brought by her against Mrs. Van Camp for alleged slander. The filing of the suit came hard on the heels of a court decision wherein Mrs. Van Camp was granted a decree of divorce on the ground of cruelty and where Miss Cruzen was exonerated of a charge of misconduct.

Miss Cruzen claims that Mrs. Van Camp, in the eucalyptus grove which figured so largely during the Van Camp, in the eucalyptus grove which presence of Van Camp and others, called her a "low down creature."

This incident is alleged to have occurred on November 29 last. The stenographer alleges Mrs. Van Camp did this maliciously and with intent to bring Miss Cruzen into public discredit.

MINISTER SUED FOR $50,000 LOVE BALM AT S. F. WINS CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 11.—The Rev. John F. Poncher, former pastor of the Central Methodist church, was vindicated by a jury late yesterday of the charge that he had alienated the affections of Mrs. Irma Smeltzer from her husband.

The jury was out sixteen minutes before it reached an unanimous verdict.

Mrs. Smeltzer has filed suit for divorce from William G. Smeltzer, and Smeltzer has filed a cross-complaint.

Smeltzer in his suit for $50,000 damages sought to prove that Poncher and Mrs. Smeltzer lived together as man and wife in an Oakland hotel for a week.

HEIR TO $90,000 IN PERIL OF BECOMING S. F. PUBLIC CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 11.—Benjamin Barney Stanley, member of a pioneer family, is in dire straits and is likely to become a public charge, even though he is sole heir to an estate valued at more than $90,000. This is set forth in a petition which was to come up for hearing today before Judge Van Nostrand here.

Gustave Schultes, who filed the petition, asks to be appointed guardian of Stanley, who is 42 years old, stating that Stanley is without funds and is an object of charity, as he is incompetent to care for himself, having been ill for almost ten years. The estate was left to Stanley by his mother, who died in 1912. Attorneys for the petitioner assert Stanley was persuaded to sign over his estate to his grandmother, Mrs. Lydia H. Barney, of Menlo Park for a consideration of $200 a month for the rest of his life. According to the lawyers, he has been receiving only from $35 to $50 a month. The grandmother, now 92 years old, is said to be unaware of Stanley's plight.

BAY CITY MAN'S TAX REACHES $1,000,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 11.—The income tax of one San Franciscan amounts to $1,000,000. His return was included in 90,000 filed here up to today. March 15 is the last day for filing returns.

U-BOAT WAR SECRETS BROUGHT IN OPEN BY U. S. ADMIRAL IN QUIZ

By RAYMOND CLAPPER, United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 11.—Herbert Hoover, former food administrator, will be asked to testify in behalf of Rear Admiral William S. Sims, before the senate naval affairs committee investigating the Daniels-Sims controversy.

Sims today requested the committee to call Hoover and chairman Hale stated he would.

Sims wants Hoover to corroborate his testimony regarding the desperate situation of the allies when America entered the war.

He said Hoover gave him "the first realization of the possible defeat of the Allies," during a conference in London shortly after he arrived.

Sims today made the disclosure that in June, 1917, he urged Secretary Daniels to completely strip the American coast of "sea-going protection" and transfer the ships to British waters. Daniels, testimony showed, refused to entertain the suggestion. In a cable to Daniels, Sims said:

"I fully realize the short-sightedness of public opinion and its effect on the distribution of our forces, but the fact remains that we could well afford to strip our coast of sea-going protection and concentrate it all in the critical area on this side of the ocean."

Ten days later, finding his suggestion still unheeded, Sims sent another message to Daniels, again urging that American ships be transferred to European waters.

Reveals Message
"I again submit that if the Allied campaign is to be viewed as a whole there is no necessity for any high sea protection on our own coast," he said he told Daniels. "As long as we maintain control of the sea as far as surface crafts are concerned, there can be no fear of the enemy establishing submarine bases in the western hemisphere."

Sims went on to say the anti-submarine war would be won if the enemy could be forced or led into "directing part of his submarine effort to the United States coast, or to any other area distant from the critical area surrounding the coast of France and the United Kingdom."

Sims today repeated his criticisms that the navy department was slow to act on his requests for destroyers.

The repeated promises of the department to supply additional forces at definite times were not kept, and I often found myself seriously embarrassed in dealing with the Allies."

Replying to Sims' demand that the American coast be stripped, Secretary Daniels cabled that "the future position of the United States must in no way be jeopardized by a disintegration of our main fighting fleet," according to a cable from the secretary read by Sims today.

Other official cables read showed that Sims opposed the project for building a mine barrage in the North Sea which the navy department later carried out over the opposition of British naval experts.

Chairman Hale of the sub-committee announced that Hoover would be called to testify Saturday.

Deny Clash Reports
Allied leaders denied reports of extensive and bloody clashes between the Turks and Allied forces now in Constantinople, but admitted the Allied troops were carrying out impressive military demonstrations in an effort to calm the Turk Nationalist elements, believed responsible for the Marash massacres.

In some circles today, it was predicted that the entente ruling foreign troops in the zones already occupied from passing over the three mile demarkation limit, will be removed, giving the Greek greater freedom of action.

Certain sections of the Turkish treaty, it was said, especially that clause having to do with Constantinople.

Cables Wilson
The patriarch of Armenia, now in London, yesterday cabled President Wilson beseeching action by the United States to halt massacres of Armenians in Asiatic Turkey. America, he said, should co-operate with the Allies in ousting the Turk. A similar cablegram was sent to 100 American bishops.

A Paris dispatch quoted the newspaper Le Temps as declaring it had learned semi-officially that the Allied military plans in Turkey provide for making effective the occupation of Constantinople, taking possession of other points and control of telegraphic communication.

It is unlikely, the newspaper believed, that the Allies will take action against the new Turkish cabinet except to obtain a pledge that the Turkish government will not support the rebel Nationalist chiefs, especially Mustapha Kemal, leader of the rebel forces, believed responsible for the Armenian massacres.

MAE MURRAY, the pretty stage which is coming to the Temple Theater for 4 days commencing today, is another of those talented young actresses who have risen to stardom from the ranks of the Follies. Miss Murray was a hit in the 1915 edition of the Ziegfeld show. On the authority of James Montgomery Flagg, she has the world's most cameo-like profile.

In addition to her rare beauty and stage talents, Miss Murray is a dancer of extraordinary grace and ability. She was a headliner in vaudeville for several years. She has lately been devoting her efforts to motion pictures exclusively and has starred in ingenious and straight dramatic roles.

"On With the Dance" presents her as a pleasure-loving orphan who is thrown up against some members of New York's "fast set" as well as representatives of the worth-while class. How she overcomes her baser impulses and works out her destiny happily is the theme of what is declared to be a more than ordinarily interesting photoplay. George Fitz-

HOLDERMAN MAKING GOOD AT VETERANS' HOME AT NAPA

Veterans' Home, Cal.,
March 8th, 1920.

Editor Register, Santa Ana, Cal.:
Dear Sir—In view of the fact that the new commandant of this home has been, for a long time, a resident of your city, I believe it is a simple matter of justice to let the people of your city, through the medium of your paper, know of the high esteem in which he is held by the members of this home, and we wish to take this means to convey to the "Powers that Be" our sincere thanks for their appointment of Colonel Holderman as the official head of this home.

We have found in our new commandant a man that shows by his actions that he holds the welfare of the veteran soldier to be paramount to all other issues, and in the short time he has been amongst us, he has created a feeling of confidence in his ability that is surprising, and he has fostered a spirit of comradeship and good feeling amongst the veterans of the different wars that has never before existed, until, at the present time, this home comes nearer to the ideals of its founders, and that ideal was to make of the Veterans' Home of California a real home and not an institution, and his success in that line has endeared Colonel Holderman to the veteran members of this home.

We, as soldiers, admire a brave man, and we also feel the same confidence in his leadership as did those of the younger generation in the present war in the Forest of Argonne. While, no doubt, you of his home town are familiar with his war record, it might be of interest to some of your readers to know the manner of man we have with us as commandant of this home, we are justly proud of his record and we wish his neighbors to know it as well.

Colonel Nelson M. Holderman enlisted in the National Guard of California early in 1904, serving through the various grades, reaching the grade of second lieutenant in 1915, that of first lieutenant in 1916, and later in 1916 reached the grade of captain while serving on the Mexican border, being in command of Company L of the Seventh California Infantry, home station of the company, Santa Ana, Cal. He served through the Mexican border emergency and on through the "Great World War." He was in command of Company L, 160th Infantry, 40th division, until arrival overseas, when he was transferred to a combat division, as were most of the men of the 40th division; the 40th remained a depot division after its arrival overseas.

Colonel Holderman was in command of two companies which held the right flank of the force known as the "Lost Battalion" in the Forest of Argonne, which force fought and starved for six days and nights to avoid capture. Most of the force was killed or wounded, but the resistance was successful and the moral effect of this stand on the German forces was marvelous.

Colonel Holderman was gassed on the 29th of September, 1918, at the battle of the Depot de Machines, in the Forest of Argonne; wounded on the 4th, 5th and 7th of October, 1918; was awarded the Distinguisht
ed Service Cross, the French War Cross and two citations in orders for bravery in action. He served through the remainder of the war in the Army of Occupation in Germany, and was discharged as captain Company K, 23d U. S. Infantry, 2nd Division, immediately taking command of the Veterans' Home of California to rank as Colonel from the day he assumed command.

In his staff of officers he has worthy supporters and they are, like the members of the home, loyal to him and are likewise doing their utmost to carry out the idea of making of this a real home in the finer sense of the meaning of that word, and their success in that line is certainly remarkable.

In closing, I wish to call the attention of your readers to the fact that this home is for the benefit of all the veterans of the state of California, and while its location is in the northern part of the state, it includes in its membership many veterans from the southern part of the state.

On behalf of the veterans of this home I sincerely hope that you can publish this article at an early date, as we are very anxious to have the people of the state know that we appreciate the efforts of Colonel Holderman in our behalf; and as far as my reliability is concerned, I will state that I have been a member of this home constantly since September 29, 1910, and am therefore in a position to judge what the feelings are of the members here.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN H. GALLAGHER.

OSHER HEIRS ARE IN COURT CONTEST

Additional testimony was being offered today before Superior Judge West in the case of Bert T. Osher and Bertha Hoane against R. R. Pember, Anna L. Pember, Charles Their-field, J. C. Osher and Mary Osher.
The plaintiffs are seeking to have Mary Osher declared incompetent, alleging that several of the defendants are exerting undue influence upon her with a view to inducing her to part with her estate.

The case opened last week, but was continued until today in order to secure additional witnesses. It is expected that all of the testimony will be presented today. The estate involved is half of that left by Mrs.
Osher's husband, the other half having been equally divided among four children following Osher's death. It is said Mrs. Osher has already deeded part of the property to her daughter and son-in-law, R. R.
and Anna L. Pember.
Attorney H. C. Head of this city represents the plaintiffs in the action, while Attorney Leonard Evans of Anaheim represents the defendants. The estate was administered by Public Administrator C. D. Brown whose interests are being looked after by Attorney Hans V. Weisel, also of Anaheim.

THE RAILROAD LABOR PROBLEM

The new chapter of private railroad management under more comprehensive public supervision has opened auspiciously. The Cummins-Esch act is generally approved by the public. It is acceptable to the railroad executives, and though opposed before passage by the railroad employees, is accepted now by all the brotherhoods except one. The maintenance of way men and shop workers will do well to acquiesce.

The important thing now is to set up, as quickly as possible, the machinery provided for settling railroad labor disputes. This machinery seems well calculated to serve its purpose, provided wisdom is used in selecting its personnel. There are two boards, one a joint tribunal equally representing the railroad employers and employees, and the other a more formal tribunal giving representation also to the public. It is hoped that ordinarily the two parties immediately concerned may be able to work out their labor problems themselves, through the agency of their dual board. Failing in that, they will refer their disputes to the larger body.

The latter will not have arbitrary power of decision, but it is believed that the publicity attending its inquiries will give unusual force to its findings. Eventually, the government may definitely forbid strikes and lockouts in the transportation industry, but such an extreme solution is not yet acceptable.

The labor problem is unquestionably the biggest problem the railroads face at this time. Problems of financing, of equipment, of improvements and extensions, of service and rates, these can be worked out with less difficulty, because they involve no such complex human factor as the labor problem. The government has narrowly escaped a great railroad strike three times in two years. It would be an overwhelming calamity if the railroad executives were to suffer the handicap of a strike just at the start of this new period.

Every energy, public and private, must be devoted to setting the conciliatory machinery in motion and making it work smoothly. With this labor problem satisfactorily settled, the country could face its other industrial troubles hopefully.

MEXICAN IMMIGRANTS

Where have most of our recent immigrants come from? The average American would never guess. They have come from Mexico. Both in 1918 and in 1919 there were more new arrivals from Mexico than from any other country.

The number, to be sure, is not large. It was only 28,884 last year. Still, the fact is interesting in view of the standing unpleasantness between the United States and Mexico, and also in view of the fact that Mexican immigration is on the increase, and if present tendencies continue, may soon reach a very considerable volume.

Do we want the Mexicans? They are undesirable in many ways. They are generally illiterate, and difficult to Americanize. On the other hand, they appear to be good workers, more faithful and intelligent in manual occupations than some of our other importations. And in view of the great need of labor in the United States, it is going to be difficult to keep up the bars against the Mexicans even if it is theoretically desirable.

UP TO THE RAILROADS

Before the war there was much favorable talk of government ownership of railroads, even among railroad executives and stockholders. Now the talk is all the other way. The country has had two years of government operation; and, rightly or wrongly—rightly, most citizens think—the decision is against it. Public ownership has fewer friends today than it has had for decades.

But the last chapter is not written. Herbert Hoover shrewdly remarked, when the lines were turned back to their owners, "Private ownership is now on its final trial."

The same thought is expressed by President Walker of the Chicago & Alton, who says:

ciers, under adverse conditions, to render such admirable service that government ownership will not be tolerated."

This is the precise situation. It is one calculated to spur the railroad men to do their best in the way of efficient management. The public will judge them partly by the cost of service, but more by the quality of the service. They are handicapped, as the government was handicapped, by insufficient equipment. They have the further disadvantage that the public is probably expecting too much of them. They have the advantages, however, of assured financing and of the increased energy of personnel that is supposed to go with private operation.

The railroads apparently are to have a fair chance to make good. They will be all the more likely to succeed if they appreciate the fact that it is really their last chance. The public will be loath, even if they fail, to resort to nationalization of the railroads; but if they fail, what other alternative will there be?

THE WAY TO LIBERTY

The days are close at hand when everybody will want to spend all the time he possibly can out of doors. Why not use these more inclement spring days in disposing of all the accumulation of neglected things, and make way for liberty, so that when summer does come there will be less to prevent the acceptance of its invitation to out-door life and sport?

There is not a house nor a business nor an individual without a list of undone things which are always hampering the consideration of any new move toward ease and freedom. What joy it would mean if all these back-hangers and kill-joys could be disposed of one by one, and mind and conscience liberated!

Half the fatigue in the world comes from the oppression of these neglected small matters. Most of the overwork in the world comes from trying to get them finished up at the worst possible time.

Everybody feels a distinct disinclination to extra labor in the warm weather. This is Nature's polite reminder that summer is here, man's natural vacation time. This hint can no more be disregarded safely than any of Nature's other hints.

Take the in-between season and get the odd jobs done, the letters written, the repairs made, the books made up. Make way for liberty, and then enjoy it!

WARNING FROM FRANCE

The rail strike in France has come to an end. The compelling reason for calling it off was the fact that 13,000 patriotic Frenchmen volunteered to keep the trains moving. Much the same thing would happen in this country were an effort made to tie up our transportation system. The arrogance of certain styled labor leaders comes from their belief that they can paralyze the railroads whenever they choose to give the order. The greatest surprise of their lives is in store for them once they attempt to make good on their bluff.

Carranza says he's going to leave office next December. Something seems to tell us that Mexican conditions will improve about that time.

Strange Bedfellows

Every candidate for office is doubtless embarrassed by the incongruous supporters who turn up and claim that they are for him, but we should think that Herbert Hoover (if he may be reckoned a candidate) would be most shocked of all by the announcement that Frank Jordan is for him. However, with the San Francisco Chronicle for Johnson and the Los Angeles Times for Hoover, and both of them loaded with a lot of personal supporters of the most reactionary sort—some of them bandwagon climbers and other who support the one merely because they hate the other worse—the line between progressives and conservatives is nearly as badly broken as the line between Republicans and Democrats. They all have their incongruities. But the queerest of all is Chinese Jordan.

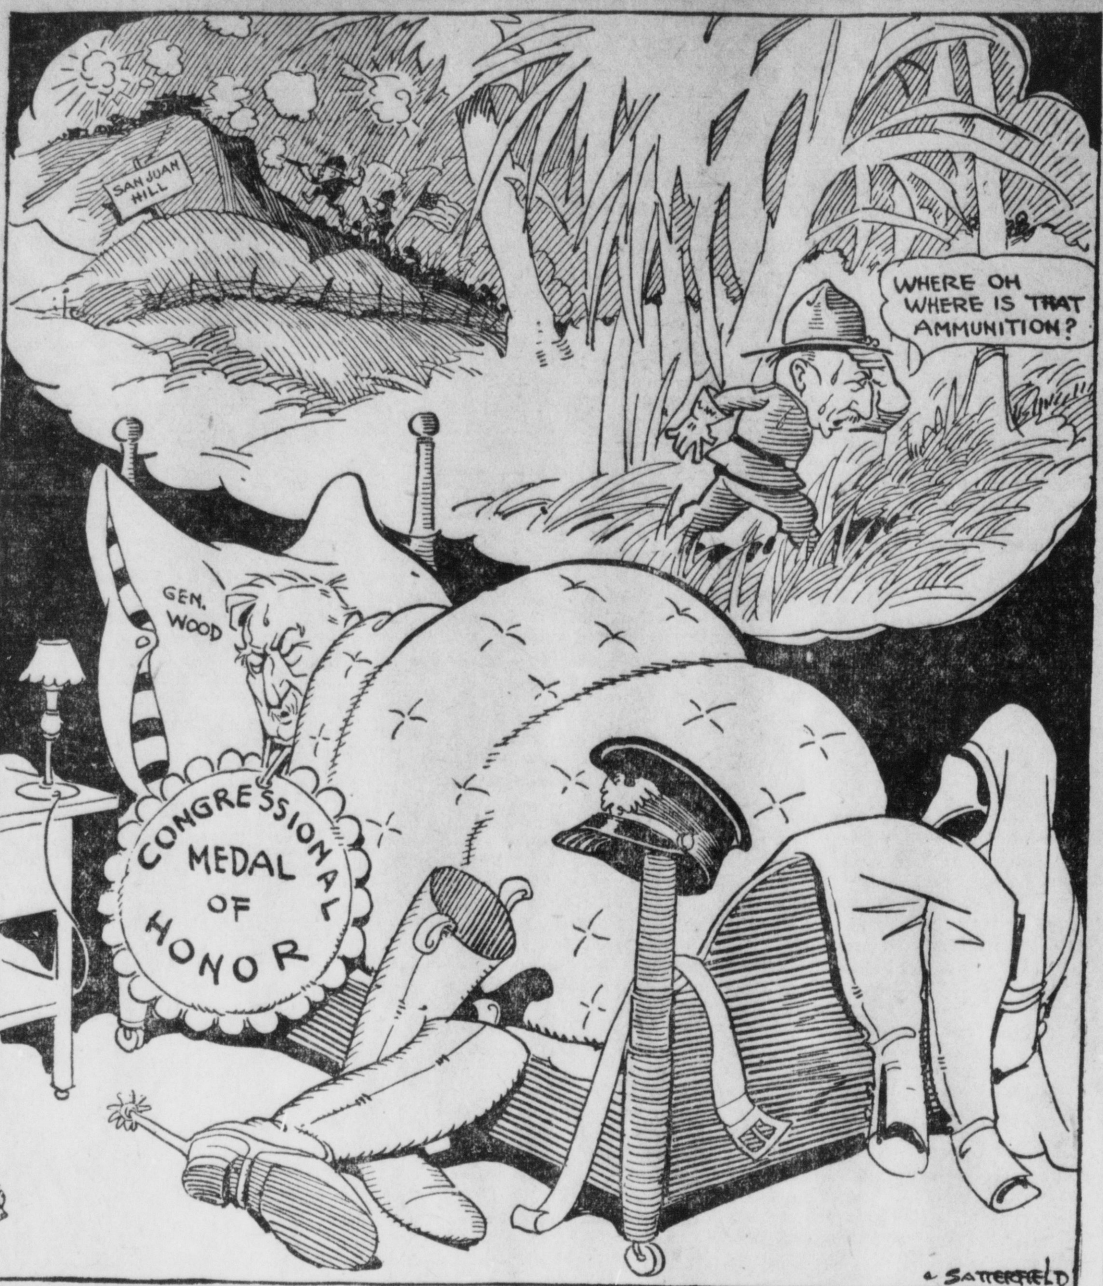

Stopping An Evasion

Occasionally a few of the many mistakes made by workers in newspaper offices escape a whole galaxy of watchers for mistakes; the writer, the editor, the linotype operators, the proof reader, back to the linotype operator, then back to the printer, back to the proof-reader, then to the printer and pressman.

Then the mistakes are sent out for inspection of all the people and some of the errors swell up and become a burst with self-importance on discovering the mistakes of the ignoramuses who make newspapers.

If all the mistakes of other people were blazoned before the public as the newspaper men's mistakes are, the woefully ignorant newspaper men would have company in their misery, but each of them can conceal his mistakes and the newspapers generously suppress thousands that are apparent, otherwise it would be seen that there are legions of "ignoramuses" outside of the newspaper offices.

Playing the Game

B. C. Forbes in Forbes Magazine

Business is as much a game as golf or baseball or football. Lift itself is aptly likened to a game.

To win, to earn and enjoy the fruits of victory, you must play fair. A cup or medal or other trophy is not the real prize the victor receives; the real prize, the real reward, is the satisfaction derived from superior, worthy achievement.

Wealth is not the real prize of life, it is only a trophy, a symbol, and may carry with it no satisfaction; indeed it does NOT carry with it genuine, lasting satisfaction unless it has been won fairly, honestly, honorably.

The more I see of rich men and the closer my insight into the workings of their minds and hearts, the more strongly convinced do I become that great wealth is no passport to happiness nor proof of true success.

It is an old truth, but it needs preaching every sunrise, so many do not know it, or, knowing it, do not heed it. If they could only be made to understand, if they could only see things in their true colors, if they could only peer into the hearts of many millionaires, they would order their lives more rationally and enjoy life more thoroughly.

To win out you must play the game every time. Look at So-and-So; he has everything he wants, yet everybody knows that he made his money by shady practices," you may reply.

Don't fool yourself that So-and-So has everything he wants. Do you imagine that he doesn't know how you and other people regard him? And do not think for a moment that he enjoys being looked at askance, or that he wouldn't exchange most of his ill-gotten gains to stand high with you and other people—and to stand high with himself.

There have been wholesale efforts to reap more than has been sown, to get more than has been earned, to tilt the scales unduly.

Sooner or later the profiteers and labor slackers will get their just reward.

The call is for the fellows who can be depended upon, under any and all circumstances to play the game.

The things that count are the things that last. Playing the game lasts.

Worth While Verses

LIFE.

Let me but live my life from year to year.
With forward face and unreluctant soul;
Not hurrying to, nor turning from the goal;
Not mourning for the things that disappear
In the dim past, nor holding back in fear
From what the future veils; but with a whole
And happy heart, that pays its toll
To Youth and Age, and travels on with cheer.

So let the way wind up the hill or down,
O'er rough or smooth, the journey will be joy;
Still seeking what I sought when but a boy,
New friendship, high adventure, and a crown,
My heart will keep the courage of the quest,
And hope the road's last turn will be the best.

For Good Measure

By the Editor

Apropos of—well, of whatever it may suggest,—I am impelled to reprint the following from John S. McGroarty's page in the magazine section of the Los Angeles Times. If it should remind you of a recent high-brow, after-you-my-dear Alphonse sort of controversy in this newspaper, remember that I didn't say I was reprinting it apropos thereof.

People who make a specialty of smart talk on the platform and in books certainly furnish the public with a great deal of entertainment for the moment. But, it is only for the moment. To be smart is merely to be ephemeral. It is only the solid things that stand and last.

Last summer, for instance, a very earnest and witty evangelist invaded a Godless town in Montana. He was on the Billy Sunday order, and he succeeded in arousing considerable interest, but when came the Sabbath day there was a baseball game in which the home team was pitted against the team from a rival town.

The weather was terrifically hot, and yet almost every person in the place went to the ball game.

The evangelist was very much about it, and he did not hesitate to speak his mind to the crowd when it came to hear him next night.

"You folks all went to the ball game yesterday instead of coming to prayers," he said. "And it was 120 in the shade. But, I am here to tell you that it will be more than 120 in the shade in hell and there won't be any ball game, either."

Billy Sunday, himself, never said anything much smarter than that. And yet, it will not be remembered. As a matter of fact, do you remember any of the smart things Billy Sunday said when he was here?

But, we remember what Paul said, and what Thomas a Kempis said, and what John and Luke and Mark and Matthew said.

They were not humorists, they did not attempt to be smart and witty. But, what they said lasts and will continue to last.

In response to my request that someone send me Mark Twain's marvelous word-picture of an ice storm, it came promptly from one of the Register's frequent and highly appreciated contributors, Thomas Wright of Tustin. Here it is:

"If we had not our bewitching autumn foliage, we should still have to credit the weather with one feature which compensates for all its bullying vagaries—the ice storm—when a leafless tree is clothed with ice from the bottom to the top—ice that is as bright and clear as crystal; every bough and twig is strung with ice-beads, frozen dewdrops, and the whole tree sparkles, cold and white, like the Shah of Persia's diamond plume.

"Then the wind waves the branches, and the sun comes out and turns all those myriads of beads and drops to prisms that glow and hum and flash with all manner of colored fires, which change and change again, with inconceivable rapidity, from blue to red, from red to green, and green to gold; the tree becomes a sparkling fountain, a very explosion of dazzling jewels; and it stands there the acme, the climax, the supremest possibility in art or nature of bewildering, intoxicating, intolerable magnificence! One cannot make the words too strong.

"Month after month I lay up hate and grudge against the New England weather; but when the ice storm comes at last I say, 'There, I forgive you now; the books are square between us; you don't owe me a cent; go and sin some more; your little faults and foibles count for nothing; you are the most enchanting weather in the world!'"

Yes indeed it is a woman's duty as well as her right and privilege to take active part in politics. But when a woman has five or six children to keep clean and tidy, she hasn't a great deal of time left for either politics or pleasure.

Now come the statisticians with the announcement that there is one motor car to every 13 persons in the United States. I haven't the exact figures, but I am sure that of Orange county can beat that average all to smash. A year or more ago we had one auto for every ten of our population, and now no doubt we have enough autos in Orange county to transport the entire population. A little crowded maybe, but we'd get there just the same.

A Disarming Order

The atmosphere of the smoking car lent itself to reminiscences.

"Captain," asked the hardware salesman, "would you mind telling me how you lost your arm?"

"Not at all, not at all," replied the bronzed officer with the empty sleeve. "It happened this way. We were due for another turn in the trenches the next day, so they were giving a dance for us that night back at the rest camp. A few welfare workers were there, and among them was the cutest little girl I ever met. I managed to dance with her most of the evening, and toward the end we wandered out in the moonlight. 'Captain,' she said, after a while, 'please remove your arm.'"

"And, you know, she was such a little queen I just couldn't refuse her."—Home Sector.

A Case of Identity

Just south of Port Royal, S. C., the "inland" route presents great difficulties to the Florida-seeking yacht owner from the North. Sticky mud flats and shifting sand bars, raising their tops to within a few inches of the surface of the water, restrict navigation to narrow, winding channels, known only to the initiated.

One yacht skipper hired an old negro boatman to "take him through," after having been earnestly assured by the old man that he "knew every bank in the creek." For a few minutes all went well; then the little yacht slid gently up the slope of a submerged bar—and stayed there.

"You're a devil of a pilot!" stormed the skipper. "I thought you knew every bank in the creek."

"So I does, boss, so I does," was the complacent reply. "Dis is one ob dem now."—Harper's Magazine.

ACCEPTS DEEDS TO EXTENSION OF AVENUE

The board of supervisors has accepted deeds to a 60-foot right of way for an extension of Piacenta avenue southward to the state highway near the County Hospital.

Work of grading and graveling the road will be started soon under the direction of County Engineer J. L. McBride.

The road crosses two pieces of property. Deeds are from George W. Fort and Samuel W. Miller. The road will lie along the east side of Ford's walnut orchard and will come into the state highway at right angles, on the Miller place.

This road is one that property owners on the south end of Piacenta avenue have been in great need of for a long time. With the completion of the extension they will have a more direct route than they have ever had to Santa Ana and Orange.

Money for the grading and graveling of this extension will come from road funds within the control of Supervisors S. H. Finley of Santa Ana and N. T. Edwards of Orange.

Buttermilk, however, is not always obtainable, but a specialist has at last perfected a method of concentrating buttermilk and combining it with a perfect cream, which you can buy in small quantities ready to use at any first class drug store by simply asking for "Howards" Buttermilk Cream.

There is no secret about it nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just common ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream, gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth.

To get the best effect, be sure to follow the simple directions. Drugists guarantee a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund the money.

WOULD LAY SEWER PIPES UNDER BAY

A letter from Frederick B. Downing, major, corps of engineers, U. S. A., to County Clerk J. M. Backs advises that application has been received from the city of Newport Beach for permission to lay a 20-inch sewer line under the waters of Newport Bay. Objections based only on navigation interests will be received at Major Downing's office in Los Angeles up to and including March 17.

It is necessary for Newport Beach to secure permission for the laying of this main in connection with the establishment of its proposed new sewer system. Septic tanks are to be located near the glass factory along the west side of the county road. To get the sewage to the plant a line must be laid under the water near the Southern Pacific bridge.

Permission for the laying of this line was granted once before, but has been made necessary again because of a new start being made in the sewer proceedings.

They are represented by Attorneys Head & Rutan. Those named in the complaint as members of the seed and fuel company are Ralph N. Post, Everett M. and Cora B. Miller.

All those who want to vote will have to be registered by 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The coming election promises to be the liveliest held in Fullerton in recent years. The contest for trustee will be spirited, this being the most important office on account of the fact that there will be hundreds of thousands of dollars spent in public improvement within the next two years, which requires men and women with good executive and business ability, and great care is necessary on the part of the voters to see that none but the best are elected.

TILL 'TOUCHING' LAB TO BOY HELD HERE

Just as he was preparing to put distance between himself and Santa Ana with $60 in his pockets which he is alleged to have light fingered, he was held here at the West End Cafe, Alfred Thomas, aged 17, who has been employed at the cafe for several days as a dishwasher, was apprehended by Luther Martin, proprietor of the cafe, and turned over to City Marshal Jernigan. A complaint charging larceny was filed against Thomas today by Martin.

Thomas "blew" into town about ten days ago; he is said to be one of the type whose home is where they temporarily hang their hat. Funds were low with Thomas and naturally wanting to eat, he sought work where his "cakes" would be assured. A few days after Thomas arrived he reported to City Marshal Jernigan that some one had stolen all his extra clothing. An investigation convinced Jernigan that if any extra clothing existed it could not have a handkerchief.

When Thomas was turned over to Jernigan, the marshal asked Thomas what his idea had been in taking the money. "I had to get even with someone," the youth is said to have replied. Thomas is now a guest of Jailer "Budge" Lacy.

NEEDS $500 TO FINISH CAMP GROUNDS

That $500 will be needed to complete the Orange County Camp Ground in Trabuco canyon is shown in a letter just received by Supervisor S. H. Finley from L. A. Barrett of San Francisco, assistant district forester.

Finley believes that the money can be appropriated by the county, so that the camp grounds can be completed without delay.

Barrett was a member of Col. L. Seventh Regt., when Finley was its captain in the Spanish-American war. Barrett attended a reunion of the company last May, and the question of a camp ground in Trabuco was discussed by them at that time.

A letter just received by Supervisor Finley has the following: "Although I have not been south this winter I understand that the Trabuco road will be completed soon, and I am now ordering metal enamel road signs to post the road from El Toro to the camp, giving the distance to 'Orange County Camp Ground,' as that is what we decided to call it, and I believe that you will agree that the name is appropriate, as this is a local proposition, although it will undoubtedly draw many people from the outside.

"My chief field assistant, an engineer of experience along recreational lines, will be in the Trabuco Canyon within two weeks and will make a detailed plan for development of the camp grounds, and at the same time, if there is available room after providing for ample camp grounds, will lay out some lots for rental to those who may desire to erect summer cabins. While we are able to make all the plans, it will be impossible to have the camp ready for use this spring unless local co-operation can be secured.

"The Forest Service has no specific appropriation for recreational development work. We have countless requests for funds for this purpose, and only through curtailment of some of our other lines of work are we able to assist in financing the most necessary camp ground developments. At the present time our funds are all allotted, and since the present congress is closely scrutinizing all requests for appropriations, there is no chance for special funds for this work next year.

"Now I know that Orange county people are interested in this project, and believe that if proper publicity is given, local motor car dealers, automobile club members, chambers of commerce, and perhaps the county will co-operate in furnishing funds, as we stand ready to supervise construction without delay and will maintain the camp thereafter.

"For a minimum of $500 we can put in the necessary latrines, garbage pits, incinerators, tables, benches, fireplaces, etc., according to standard plans used in all our camp ground work. Of course more money will make a better camp.

"I enclose copy of a map which will soon be posted in automobile salesrooms and garages all over the state. You will see that Trabuco is one of the specially noted camping areas.

"I will be south all next month and shall be in Santa Ana. In the meantime if you have any suggestions on this matter or can stir up co-operation, it will enable us to get the camp ready in the near future.

"Very truly yours,
"L. A. BARRETT,
'Assistant District Forester.'

W. C. T. U. Of Santa Ana Reviews Year's Work, Is Ready to March Forward

"Forward, March" is the watchword for the Santa Ana W. C. T. U., ready to take its part in making the whole world dry.

That the Santa Ana union is ready to go ahead with the great work it has been doing for the cause of humanity was brought out at the annual meeting of the union, which meeting ended one of the most successful years in the history of Santa Ana union, always a staunch standard-bearer in the cause of prohibition.

The annual meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was followed by the reading of the McFadden. The devotional service was led by Mrs. A. L. Dearing, who read the 91st Psalm and led in prayer. The report of the treasurer showed that $312.50 had been raised for the Jubilee Fund. This report was followed by the reading of the yearly report of the corresponding secretary and the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. G. P. Hill; first vice-president, Mrs. A. A. Jones; second vice-president, Mrs. A. M. McDermott; recording secretary, Mrs. W. E. Ward; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. N. Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. Fannie Lash.

Voicing the love of the Union and its appreciation of her work as president during the past three years, Mrs. Tedford presented to Mrs. W. S. Rose a White Ribbon pin and a subscription to the Union Signal, the national W. C. T. U. publication.

The reports of the superintendents of departments were read and showed much work accomplished. It was announced that an all-day sewing meeting would be held at the home of Mrs. G. P. Hill on Tuesday, March 16, to prepare clothing for the infant box. Members will bring lunches, and tea and coffee will be served. At 1:30 p. m. the first meeting of the executive board will be held to outline the program for the year. The next meeting on March 23, will be held with Mrs. W. H. Thomas, 425 West First street, the subject being, "Plans for the Future," in charge of Mrs. A. A. Jones.

Year is Reviewed

The work of the W. C. T. U. of Santa Ana for the last year was reviewed by Mrs. J. N. Anderson, corresponding secretary, in part, as follows:

Corresponding Secretary's report, Santa Ana Union, March 9, 1920: The past year has been one of great rejoicing for the W. C. T. U., for we have at last experienced the joy and benefit of living in a period of prohibition, in all our land, free of one great enemy, alcohol.

January 16, 1920, is our real letter day, for on that date he was finally buried, according to the provisions of the National Constitutional Prohibition Amendment.

With that great handicap removed, the W. C. T. U. may be said to be ready to work. Twenty-four departments are represented in our union and from them splendid results have been attained in the past, with promise of greater efforts in the future. Eighteen regular meetings have been held since our county convention on April 8, 1919. These have been well attended and many interesting subjects have been brought before us. At the first meetings of the year our corresponding secretary was instructed to write to Senators Kehoe and Evans and Assemblymen Rosenshine and Eden, urging them to use their influence toward securing favorable action on certain measures before the legislature in which we were interested. In connection with our election of a school board, strong resolutions of confidence in our superintendent of schools were passed.

Plans for the year's work were outlined, the more prominent features being work among soldiers and sailors, patriotic membership, and the antismoking educational work. Executive meetings were called to arrange for the entertainment of the state convention, which met here the last week in May.

State Convention

This convention was a rare treat for the members of the W. C. T. U. who were privileged not only to hear the splendid programs, but also to take part in them. At this convention the jubilee plans for the year were outlined and we began to take our part in the campaign to increase the national membership by 1,000,000 members and to raise $1,000,000 for work to be done in the next five years, culminating in the year 1924, the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the W. C. T. U.

The quota for Santa Ana being $1080, the union was divided into ten circles, each circle to raise its share of the fund, and this to be added to the collections for the different churches and private subscriptions.

While we are thankful for what has been done in the past, we have made large plans for the future. To this end our state convention was a great stimulus to us. The committees appointed for convention work were untiring in their efforts to assist in making it a success and many kind words of appreciation were voiced by the state officers. At the July meeting the resignation of Mrs. E. L. Morrison as corresponding secretary was accepted with regret, and Mrs. Anderson was asked to fill the office for the balance of the year.

Night letters were sent to Senators Johnson and Phelan and to Representative Kettner urging them to oppose any effort to amend or repeal the War-time Prohibition measure, and especially protesting against any amendment to the law in favor of beer and light wines.

Kind replies were received from Senator Evans and Assemblyman Eden, assuring us of their appreciation of our interest in their legislative work.

Resolutions were passed protesting against the attitude of some delegates to the Federation of Labor convention, as demonstrated by the parade in Washington, D. C., June 4, demanding that War-time Prohibition be repealed, believing as we do that this was a misrepresentation of the real attitude of labor in our country.

Many Activities

During the year shut-in members and the sick in hospitals were remembered by flowers and Scripture texts.

To assist in the scientific temperance work eighteen copies of the "Young Crusader" are distributed to the schools. Donations of fruit, clothing and money have been sent to the Frances E. Willard Home, the Southern California Home for Women, and to the Enlisted Men's Home in San Diego. Co-operation with the work of missions is emphasized, and our goal from now on is "Prohibition for All the World."

The fact that alcohol is no longer regarded as a medium is kept prominently before the members. The enforcement of the voters' enforcement measure is our work now, also the putting into effect of the Harris law for California Jubilee has been our past year's work. "Forward, March" is now our watchword.

The report of the temperance secretary of Sunday schools shows a vast amount of temperance education given. Of nine schools reporting, all have special secretaries who superintend the patriotic anti-cigarette and temperance work. All observe the Quarterly Lesson day, and serve the Quarterly Lesson day, and

HIGH INTEREST IS TAKEN IN REVIVALS

Dr. H. W. Bromley, the Kentucky evangelist, taking for his text, "But as For Me and My House, we will Serve the Lord," in his eloquent and forceful manner, on the fourth night of the revival services at Spurgeon Memorial church, delighted a large audience with his exposition of the truths of Christianity.

Taking the position that nothing can truly succeed without the Christian religion, Dr. Bromley referred to the many failures in history due to sin and leaving Christ out, took a rap at politics and society, said the church needs more religion, and that there never was a time in the history of the world when business needed the Christian religion as now.

The profiter came in for a tremendous blow as Dr. Bromley cited the effects of his dealings on the innocent and helpless of the war-ridden countries, and characterized him as chief among evildoers. Dr. Bromley then clenched his fists and referring to the prostrate form of "Old King Alcohol," said: "If that monster ever raises its head he was ready for fight." The audience applauded vehemently.

The revival started Sunday morning with an interest and impetus that made all present feel that a great meeting was certain and the result of succeeding meetings makes success more assured.

The large choir is led by Mr. H. A. Backmeyer, and it is the unanimous opinion of those who heard him when here in another meeting about two years ago and now, that he is one of the greatest singers that Santa Ana people have been privileged to hear.

Two Splendid Vocal Quartets

"Now I Know"—sung by the Shannon Quartet
"I'll Always Be Waiting for You"—sung by Peerless Qr.

"Now I Know" is a song of lost love in which the harmonies blend with a singular richness and sweetness of effect. The melody is tuneful and catchy and the rhythm that of a rather slow fox-trot. "I'll Always Be Waiting for you" is in a slower and possibly even tenderer strain. It is in a slow waltz tempo.

Also Judge Essex Fineness By the Hudson Standard

The Essex is Famous for Beauty as Well as Performance

Essex performance proofs naturally overshadow its qualities of quieter appeal.

For prior to Essex, it was held that light weight must mean some forfeit in smoothness, speed, power and endurance.

But even those whose choice was decided by its supreme performance ability are captivated by its notable beauty of design, its luxurious fittings and its quiet riding ease.

It is not merely that Essex matches large, high priced cars in comfort. It is not only its speed, its quickness at the getaway and its quiet mastery of the hills. Its charm is the combination of these qualities with a flying smoothness in action and a responsiveness that heeds the lightest touch.

Great Surplus Power Makes Driving a Joy

Abundant surplus power handles the Essex with ease in every situation. This surplus power and strength, beyond any need you will ever have, accounts for Essex smoothness in tasks at which many cars strain with permanent injury to their mechanism.

Hudson Design and Super-Six Motor Still World Supreme

Every day you see Hudsons, two and three years old, which, both in style and performance, might well be judged of recent production.

Advanced ideas you will always find in Hudson. That fact created its style leadership. But they must earn their right to belong. No mere straining after something new has ever won place for a single feature in Hudson design.

On fashionable boulevards you see more Hudson chauffeur-driven cars than any other make. Yet leadership in style alone was not enough to win such recognition.

Hudson Leads All Fine Cars in Performance

Hudson's chief advantage has always been in performance. Its many official speed, power and endurance records were made four or five years ago. But they still stand. They account for Hudson becoming the world's largest selling fine car.

Those records are the reason why no change has ever been made in the principle of the Super-Six motor. It is exclusive in Hudson. You can get its advantages in no other car.

Announcement was made last night of a lecture to be delivered by Dr. Bromley to women and girls only at the church Saturday afternoon at 2:30, and that one to men and boys only would be given Sunday afternoon at 2:15.

The chairman of literature, Mrs. Hill, reports that she has samples of literature and members can call on her for help for any meetings.

Continued interest is shown in the department of Christian citizenship. The superintendent of flower missions has sent out seventy-five bouquets to individuals.

The rest room for the public has been maintained in the city hall for five years. Mrs. Porter is in charge.

One meeting was held to consider the interests of temperance and missions. A Christmas donation of $10 was sent to the home in Los Angeles.

To our officers we are indebted for faithful and earnest work, and especially thank our retiring president, who has guided us so well through the war work, the state convention and the jubilee campaign.

This is one of the songs which have endeared Mr. McCormack to so many thousands on both sides of "The Water," and enhanced his fame as one of the great ballad singers of modern times. FINDS SHORTAGE IN NUMBER OF TEACHERS

High prices received for agricultural products are causing an increased demand for the teaching of agriculture in the high schools of California, according to Dean H. E. Van Norman of the State University Farm. In addition to this factor, the number of teachers needed will be increased through the loss of present teachers who will purchase farms for themselves under the present unusual inducements. As a result of this combination of circumstances, the attendance at the University of California Farm School Summer Session during the six weeks from June 21 to July 31, 1920, will be larger than in the past, Prof. Van Norman indicated.

ORANGE TO PUT ON OF JELLED FRUITS TURNED OUT 1ST DAY BY NEW FIRM

Steps To Be Taken to Make It Better Place In Which to Live

ORANGE, Mar. 11.—Orange has set out to do a number of things that it is believed will make Orange a more attractive city in which to live. Orange has been growing just as fast as corps of builders could build, and it is going to keep on growing. Its numerous attractions in location and opportunity are bringing people here and holding them. Among the most recent steps taken here are those looking to more pavement.

The City Trustees want to add to the city's facilities for pleasant living. They want to make Orange a city with more paved streets than it has now, with more lights, with a better water plant, with a new city hall.

Steps are now well under way to the early realization of an $80,000 city hall. That in itself is a big move forward.

Improvements in the city water department are to cost $12,000. It is proposed to expend about $17,000 in the installation of new ornamental lights.

The City Trustees have ordered paving on a number of streets, and bids for doing the work will be opened on March 23 at 1 p. m.

The action was taken in conjunction with the county supervisors, who will open bids on a section of the Villa Park paving district on the same date.

The street covered by action of the Orange trustees are:

South Glassell street, from La Veta avenue to the south city limits.

North Tustin street from Chapman to Collins avenue.

East Collins avenue, from Tustin street to Southern Pacific railway.

It is estimated that the cost of the paving authorized last evening will be above $40,000. The result will be coupling up city paving system with the county systems on the north and northeast and on the south, where the paving of the Fairhaven district is already under way, and which, when completed, will provide a new paved road to Santa Ana by way of Grand avenue.

The board also indicated its intention of completing the paving of East Chapman avenue and discussed plans for sewer on that street as far east as Jamison street.

NEW FAMILIES ARE BROUGHT BY SALES

FULLERTON, Mar. 11.—Mrs. Ida Kellerman has sold her place at 123 East Whiting to O. S. Halverson of Glendale, who will move his family here and make Fullerton his home. Mrs. Wilma Lafrier has sold her place 135 West Chapman to Roy L. Chambers, of Yorba Linda, who will move his family here just as soon as he can get possession. Dave Goode has sold his place, 410 South Highland, to L. W. Carraker.

MUCH PLANTING DONE IN TULARE SECTION

VISALIA, Mar. 11.—The reports of the horticultural inspectors of Tulare county for the month of February show a decided increase in the amount of incoming shipments of nursery stock.

Regardless of the handicap of insufficient moisture, more planting is being done this season than ever before. It is interesting to note that among other activities, 1,964,631 grape cuttings were set out the past month, as well as 277,222 grape vines, 45,704 fig cuttings, 9,436 fig trees, 80,697 prune trees and 22,101 peach trees. Only 26 grapefruit trees, 16 lemon trees and one lime tree are reported for the month; 13,626 apple trees were set out and 8,356 almond trees. The avocado, which is becoming more and more of a permanency, has 15 plantings to its credit; 12,987 pomegranate trees were set out, and a total of 11,297 plum trees reported.

Of seeds, the highest amount received for planting is alfalfa seed, which numbers 170 sacks for the month.

The inspectors are extremely busy and expect to remain so for some time.

WANT COUNTY ENGINEER.

RIVERSIDE, Mar. 11.—Committees are starting in different parts of the county to secure signatures for petitions asking the board of supervisors to appoint a county road engineer, under the Reams act, passed at the last session of the legislature. It will be mandatory upon the board of supervisors to do this provided there are sufficient names secured upon the petitions.

S. A. Preserving Co. Begins Operations With Ten People On Payroll

"Del Sur California Jelled Fruits: Packed in California Sunshine."

This legend, adopted by the new Santa Ana Preserving Company, is now helping to make Santa Ana famous as the company's new plant, at East Fourth street and the Southern Pacific tracks, begins operations as an all-the-year-round producer of fruit jams, jellies and marmalades.

With the new building completed and the first machinery units installed, the Santa Ana Preserving company began actual operations yesterday, when a ton of apricot jam was made and packed for shipment. Operations continued today and as the days pass by and the plant is perfected still larger and larger amounts of delicious Southern California fruit products will be made, until the capacity of 8,000 pounds a day has been reached.

Aluminum Steam Kettles

The new company's products will be cooked in aluminum steam kettles two of which are already installed and in use, one of 200-gallon capacity and one of 100 gallons. Two more 100-gallon kettles have been ordered and will be installed as soon as they arrive. Other machinery now in use includes an orange slicer and conveyors which carry the oranges to the steam kettle, a hydraulic compressor which extracts juice from the orange pulp, a label machine, and a machine for sealing the tops of glass containers. A machine for sealing lids of tin containers is yet to be installed. The machinery complete will represent an investment of around $10,000.

The company's product will be packed in two sizes of tin and two sizes of glass containers, also wood pails of up to thirty pounds capacity. It will be sold entirely through the wholesale grocery trade, and an idea of the advertising value of the new plant is gained from the fact that 5000 jobbing firms throughout the country are being circularized each month.

In making its bow to the American trade, the Santa Ana Preserving company is putting out an exclusive line of goods, the like of which has never been seen before, and is not being made anywhere except Santa Ana. The name "California Jelled Fruits" has been given to the product, the flavor of fig, apricot, peach, orange, prune and pear being used with orange jelly as a base. The result is a most delicious fruit spread made only from fresh orange juice, the fruits which give it a distinctive flavor, and sugar.

The trade name "Del Sur" which in Spanish means "of the south," has been adopted for the product and the legend "Fruits of the South" will in time develop into a valuable adjunct of the business. "Cheaper than but, better than no more than syrup, more delicious than ordinary jelly" is the message which the container labels will carry into consumers' homes all over the United States. And each label, whether upon glass, tin or wood, will bear the words, "Santa Ana Preserving Company, Santa Ana, California."

Fresh oranges are available every day in the year, and the new preserving plant will produce orange marmalade when no other fruits can be had, so that it is planned the plant shall operate every week-day.

Wonderful Results at 70 From Internal Baths

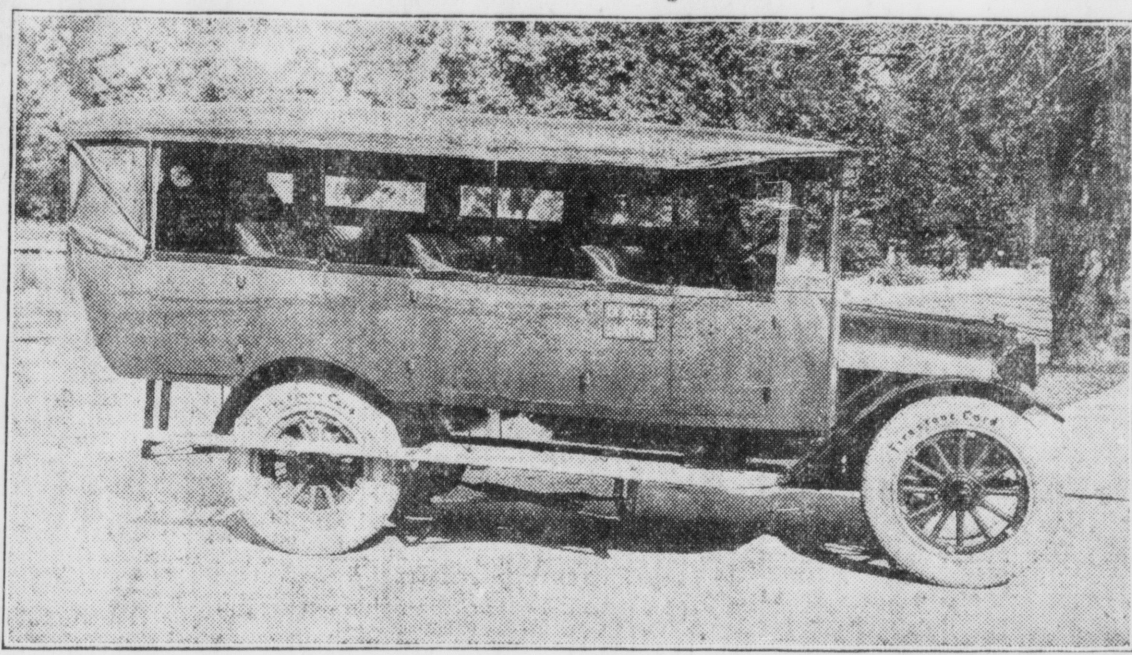

Mrs. L. M. Waldia, 2043 National Ave., San Diego, Cal., writes Tyrell's Hygienic Institute of New York as follows: "Within the last month have had wonderful results and all inflammation agreed that 95% of human ailments are caused by accumulated waste in the lower intestine. The 'J. B. L. Cascade' the scientific method of internal bathing, removes, in a perfectly natural way all poisonous waste, and has been so successful in promoting health that over half a million intelligent Americans are now using it regularly."

The invention of Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., of New York, who for 25 years was a specialist on Internal Bathing, and it is now being shown and explained by Rowley Drug Co. in Santa Ana.

They will give you on request a very interesting booklet on Internal Bathing by Dr. Tyrell, "Why Man of Today is Only 80% Efficient."

Ask for it today and know more about yourself and your functions than you ever have before.

Motor Busses Are Built By Dale for Crown Stage

This is a picture of one of the big new stages made by H. H. Dale Co. Dale has just received an order for fifteen of these stages to be finished for the Crown Stage by July 1. Each stage has four seats, each seat accommodating five passengers.

M'FADDEN FIRM IS MAKING ADDITION AT REAR OF STORE

As a solution to the problem of what to do with a rapidly growing business, the John McFadden Hardware Company on East Fourth street is building a connecting structure between the hardware store which faces on Fourth street and the sheet metal and plumbing works which face on Fifth street. It will add about 1500 feet of floor space to the establishment.

When the buildings of the east half of this block were originally put up, an area was left at the rear about thirty feet wide. It is not an alley but it leaves a driveway for the disposition of freight and other hauling. It is this driveway that will accommodate the new connect-up between the departments.

The McFadden company has also recently built in and fitted up an exceptionally well appointed display room for plumbing and heating fixtures. This new department was opened up to the public last week. It makes it possible for the prospective purchaser to see just how this or that equipment would appear in their own home, and is quite an attractive feature.

KOREAN ALPHABET IS EASY TO LEARN

On-mun, the common script of Korea, is altogether different from the language of either China or Japan, possessing an alphabet of its own, which consists of twenty-five letters. On-mun was at first despised because it was "so easy that even women could learn it in a month." The script is ascribed by Korean annals to the year of 1447, when the king of Korea, resolving to assert his independence by abandoning the use of Chinese writing as the official medium of correspondence, invented an alphabet to suit the special requirements of the vernacular.

The Korean alphabet consists of fourteen consonants and eleven vowels, analyzed by organs of speech. The characters are of an extreme simplicity, contrasting strongly with the complex Chinese. The grammar is extremely flexible, the roots being invariable, like Chinese. There are no pronouns of the first and second person, the third, with relational particles, serving for both.

Many Korean works are written in Chinese and Korean upon alternate pages for those who can read only one or the other. Those who are quite illiterate learn the more important chapters by ear.

CARRYING DOUGHNUTS TO MEXICAN BORDER

Doughnuts are following the doughboys from the trenches of France to the desert land of the Mexican border. Adjutant Margaret Sheldon of the Salvation Army, who followed the American front line into Germany with her crullers, is to carry her kettle to Maria, Texas, about 150 miles east of El Paso. She has been spending a four months' furlough with friends at 2670 North Griffin, Los Angeles. The Salvation Army, but she is to open there the third of a chain along the border. The others are at San Antonio and Fort Worth, Texas.

An order for building fifteen big automobile stages has been given by the Crown Stage of Santa Ana to H. H. Dale Co. of Santa Ana.

That one sentence carries with it two stories of industrial development in Santa Ana that are worthy of being told over and over again by every person interested in the up-building of Santa Ana.

The Crown Stage lines, under the management and ownership of A. B. Watson, have met all the hard knocks that have come to the transportation of passengers by motor, and through it all they have grown steadily stronger and bigger, and better for Santa Ana.

H. H. Dale Co., of which City Trustee H. H. Dale is the head and directing force, has developed within a remarkably short time from a fender-repair shop into a manufacturing concern of great credit to the city.

All in the Shops.
When one says that Dale is building stages, it is meant that he is building stages from the chassis up. Every bit of work that is done in making the stage body is done right in the Dale shops. The chassis is brought in, and that is all that comes in ready made from the outside. For instance, the Crown Stage orders call for building the stage bodies each on a Reo chassis.

Wood for the stage frame comes in as lumber. The wood is cut to fit, put together, and this frame is covered with body steel. Tops are put on, and seats, entirely upholstered in the Dale shop, are built in. The finest kind of leather and workmanship goes into the cushions. Watson ordered and is getting the very best springs, it being his aim to make the seats as easy-riding as possible. These stages give a comfort that is in contrast with the rough and ready service given by the early derelicts used in staging hereabouts.

Many Employees.
Thirty-one men are employed in Dale's establishment and that means a good-sized payroll for distribution in Santa Ana. Some of these men are used in top-making and body and fender repair work.

The excellence of Dale's workmanship is bringing him business in stage-making from all over Southern California. He has already delivered stages for use in Riverside, Huntington Beach and San Juan Capistrano lines. He recently delivered a fine stage for a San Diego La Jolla line, and while Dale's price was $100 higher than the price named by a manufacturer in another city, Dale's reputation for workmanship got him the order.

He is making now two stages for the Owens Valley Transportation Co. for use in mountain travel out of Bishop.

Watson's business has developed into a big Santa Ana industry. Not only does he employ a large force of men, but he also through his stages has developed lines of transportation that are of great importance to the city in a commercial way.

Dale has already built and delivered six stages to Watson. The first of the order for fifteen stages will be ready for delivery today, and will be put into immediate service. Dale's contract calls for the completion of the new order of fifteen by July 1.

AUTO PARK ADDING NEW STALLS, HAS MADE BIG SUCCESS

The Central Auto Park, opened up last September at the corner of Third and Bush streets by the Talbotts, has been found inadequate to meet the demand for such a service and the capacity of the place is now being doubled.

The original building provides parking rooms for 37 cars. Workmen are now busy adding 35 new stalls. These stalls, when the workmen complete their task, will entirely enclose the lots upon which the auto park is established. The area in the center of the park is intended to be used by tourists as a camping ground. Water and other facilities for cooking and camping are provided.

The sheds which are now being built will accommodate the larger buses such as the transportation companies use and some of them will be large enough and high enough to take in a large truck fully loaded.

The Central Auto Park from now on will have a twenty-four-hour service.

In the year, and the value to the community of such a permanent payroll plant is difficult to estimate. During the fresh fruit seasons each year, the plant will operate on those fruits and those received over and above its capacity will be canned for later use in making the company's specialty, the canned fruit being used at seasons of the year when fresh fruits cannot be obtained.

Personnel of New Factory

Roscoe Wilson of 1108 French St. is general manager of the new company, and associated with him are E. A. Boerner and W. B. Martin.

Boerner was recently from Iowa City, Iowa, and comes to the local company with twenty-five years of experience to aid him. He will have charge of the factory as plant superintendent.

Martin was formerly with the Smart & Final company of Santa Ana, and more recently with the Channel Commercial company at Riverside. He will be in charge of the selling end of the business. Both men have moved their families to Santa Ana and will reside here permanently.

Others now working at the new preserving plant are Albert Wilson, David Bloese, Miss Nora Keseman, Mrs. T. C. Quinlan and Mrs. L. F. Measor, all of Santa Ana. Miss Bess Hill of Santa Ana and Miss Georgia Tourant of Garden Grove are employed in the office, from which the circularizing and sales campaign is being conducted.

Industrial Fund Assists

In locating in Santa Ana, the new preserving company was materially assisted by the Industrial Fund, which is always ready to encourage legitimate industrials to make their homes in Santa Ana. The Industrial Fund advanced part of the money for erecting the plant building and will be recompensed within 5 years years on a payroll basis, the larger the company's payroll during the five years the less cash it will have to return on the cost of the building. This is the fourth industrial concern assisted in coming to Santa Ana by the Industrial Fund, others being the Mission Woolen Mills, California Crate Company and the Gardner Harvester company, all of which have "made good." The fund has also agreed to assist the new hotel project to the extent of $20,000 under certain restrictions, and therefore shares largely in the credit for making possible within a few months the opening of a modern new hotel here.

EIGHT FIRMS PLAN ON EARLY MOVING

once and the erection of a new and modern store building started as soon as the debris is removed. The new structure will be the home of the Spicer dry goods store. Detailed plans as to the nature of the structure will be announced in a few days by Charles Spicer, it is said. It has been stated, however, that the new store will be modern in every respect and special care taken toward making the new home attractive to the public.

The move which Hawley and Post are forced to make is not going to separate these two stores, which have been in business side by side for many years. Hawley has secured quarters at 305 North Sycamore street; Post immediately secured the storeroom to the north.

E. L. Madden of the White Cross Drug Store, who is in charge of the renting of the room now occupied by Peterson, said that negotiations are now on for the renting of that room when it is vacated by Peterson but that he is not at liberty to divulge the name of the prospective tenant.

The amount of money to be spent in the proposed improvements is not known at this time as final plans have not been adopted, all being subject to change at the suggestion of the new tenants.

No Rest—No Peace

There's no peace and little rest for the one who suffers from a bad back and distressing urinary disorders. Santa Ana people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor! Be guided by their experience.

Mrs. D. W. Hicks, 702 W. Second St., Santa Ana, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a lot of good and I cannot say too much for them. I suffered a long time with my kidneys and doctored a lot but nothing helped me until I used Doan's. I was hardly ever free from backache and could get no rest day or night. I often had to neglect my work and was doctoring all the while but got worse right along. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. I was almost down when I began to use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's helped me from the start and two boxes removed the backache and regulated my kidneys. I keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand now and at the least sign of kidney trouble, use them." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hicks had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

GETS CONTRACT FOR BUILDING BIG PLANT

Fern S. Bishop of Santa Ana has taken a contract to build what will be the largest walnut packing plant in the world. It is to be constructed for La Puente Walnut Growers Association at Puente and will cost $125,000.

Bishop has become the foremost walnut house contractor in the business. In addition to the Puente contract he also has a contract for a walnut house for the Chino Walnut Growers Association, and is now finishing a station for the Fullerton-Placentia Walnut Growers Association at Fullerton.

The Puente growers figure that they will produce no less than 3,000 tons of walnuts in 1920. Bishop declares that the house he is to build for Puente will be the largest and best equipped walnut plant in the world. It will measure 175 by 300 feet and will be equipped with five independent units, each of these units having a capacity of three tons per hour, making a total capacity of 150 tons per day. The drying bins will have a capacity of 300 tons and the storage capacity of the house will be 1800 tons, which with the tonnage in the drying bins will give the house capacity for holding 2100 tons of walnuts at one time.

INSTITUTE MAY BE HELD HERE NEXT JUNE

The June institute of the California Citrus Institute, organized by Southern California citrus growers, may be held in Santa Ana. The secretary, H. S. Valle of the Citrus Experiment Station at Riverside, states that it is to be held either in Santa Ana or Pomona.

H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor for Orange county, is anxious to have the institute held here. He believes that the information to be given out to growers through the institute has a value that cannot be measured.

"We will have to make provision for housing between 400 and 500 visitors during the institute," said Wahlberg today. "I know that hotel and rooming-house accommodations are all taken up now and probably will be in June, but it seems to me that Santa Anans and growers around over the county are interested enough in having a citrus institute in the county to care for most of the visitors or all of them in their homes."

"The matter was taken up at the meeting of Anaheim farm center last night, and those present declared that they would do everything they can to help bring the institute to this county. That means that Anaheim is backing Santa Ana in getting this series of lectures on citrus subjects brought to this county."

"The matter is to be taken up at the meeting of the board of directors of the County Farm Bureau this afternoon, and it is my hope that within a day or two I can assure the officers of the California Citrus Institute that the visitors can be taken care of during the institute here."

DAIRYMEN AT PICNIC ARE TO STUDY FOODS

A picnic for dairymen will be held Saturday, March 13, at the warehouse of the Nicholls-Loomis Company, 2505 Santa Fe avenue, Los Angeles.

The object of this get-together meeting is to get some first-hand information on the subject of feeding dairy cows, to increase milk and butter fat production.

P. H. Scribner, of the United States Department, will be present and speak on the subject, "Can the production of milk and butterfat be influenced by feeding?"

H. S. Hoard will speak on the subject, "Why Some Feeds Produce More Milk Than Others."

The picnic is being held at the mill of the Nicholls-Loomis Company in order that the dairymen may have an opportunity to see how dairy feed is made—what goes into it and why certain grains are used and other grains are not used. It will be an interesting and instructive meeting.
